QUALITY IN A KIRSCHBAUM

Suit stands out all over it--you can see it-- you can feel it.

Many men tolerate clothes of indifferent quality and fit because they think all clothing is alike. Before buying your fall suit let us show you the greatest line of good clothing in the Indian Territory.

Look at it, examine the fine workmanship and you cannot but be convinced that we are warranted in our claim.

ELECTIONS TUESDAY IN FORTY-TWO STATES

Next Tuesday there will be elections in forty-two states and three territories. Oregon, Maine and Vermont have already elected state officers and members of the Sixtieth Congress. In twenty-three of the states a governor and other state officers and in twenty of them also a legislature will be elected. In ten states minor state officers or justices of the supreme court, in two representatives and a legislature, and in seven representatives only, are to be elected. Oklahoma is to vote on a state constitution, and Arizona and New Mexico on joint statehood.

The terms of thirty United States senators—fifteen democratic and fifteen Republicans—expire March 3, 1907. Virginia, Louisiana, Mississippi, Kentucky and Arkansas already have elected democrats and Georgia has a legislature which will elect another, while Maine and Oregon have legislatures which insure the return of the republicans. Of twenty-two states in which the legislatures are to be chosen Nov. 6, to elect United States Senators, fourteen are now represented in the senate by republicans and eight by democrats.

A national House of Representatives is to be elected—the Sixtieth Congress with 386 members. The present House is composed of 250 republicans and 136 democrats. Maine already has elected four republicans, Oregon two and Vermont two.

ONLY ONE STATE HAS FUSION
There is fusion in only one state. In Nebraska the democrats and populists agreed upon a division of the state nominations, though in several other states the republicans or democratic candidates for state offices have been nominated or endorsed by one or more of the minor parties.

As usual there is one state ticket—the democratic—in South Carolina. Pennsylvania leads this year with the greatest number of state tickets—twelve. Parties are numerous. Those having tickets in the field are the independent league, Citizens', Commonwealth, City, Referendum, Jefferson, American, Anti-Administration Republican and Lincoln Republican. Six of them however are confined to Pennsylvania.

The Socialists have tickets in twenty-five states, the prohibitionists in twenty-three, Socialists Labor in seven, Populists or People's in four and the Independent league in three, while "Public Ownership" has a ticket in one state.

It Was a Good Dinner.

The ladies of the Baptist church have an enviable reputation for serving savory dinners. That given by them Tuesday on Main street was fully up to their high standard, too, and the large patronage by the Ada public justified fully the ladies' elaborate preparations.

At the same place supper will be served to the public tonight.

OKLAHOMA'S FIRST TUSSLE WITH THE RAILROADS

Enid, Ok., Oct. 30.—The taking of depositions and evidence in the injunction cases, inaugurated by Attorney General Cromwell, has been in progress for some time, and some interesting conditions are being revealed. The cases are against the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific, the St. Louis and San Francisco, and the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe, which with their branches comprise practically all the roads in Oklahoma. The petitions for these injunctions ask that the "arbitrary" freight rate between local points, which is shown on the rate sheet of all the roads as an amount to be added to the legal local rate, be declared in excess of the rates allowed by the charters of the roads.

It was brought out in an extended examination of J. J. Cunningham, general freight agent of the Denver, Enid and Gulf, a branch of the Santa Fe, that there is no justification for the arbitrary freight rate charge, and that it arose chiefly from the power of the road to levy and collect it. In many cases, according to the rate sheets, the arbitrary charge is more than double the legal charge for short distances. Between the towns of Mountain Park and Snyder, in southwestern Oklahoma, which towns are only two miles apart, it was shown that the rate on wheat in car lots should not be more than 5c a hundred pounds, which is the maximum allowance for distances less than 15 miles. But to this minimum is added an arbitrary rate of 11 1-2c, making the rate for two miles 16 1-2c. As contrasted with this, it was shown that the rate in Kansas on the same product over the same road for a distance of 103 miles is 4 1-2c.

Wheat is the principal crop throughout northern Oklahoma, and the greatest protests against freight charges have come from the dealers in this product.

The export rate on wheat from Ryan, on Oklahoma Territory's south border, is 26 1-2c. Just across the line in Texas the rate is 15c for almost the same dis-ance. This is the first attempt to be made in Oklahoma by the Territorial Government, by legal procedure, to restrain the railroad companies in fixing rates, upon which they have fattened without interference for years. The adequacy of the Oklahoma laws for this purpose has not been determined.

TO SUPREME COURT

Independent Candidates Still Fighting To Get on Ticket

Oklahoma City, Oct. 29.—The decision of Judge Burwell in denying a writ of mandamus to compel the Oklahoma election board to place the names of E. O. Whitwell and Robert Chowning independent candidates of Oklahoma City, on the official ballot will cause the filing of a motion today asking that the decision be reviewed by the supreme court of this territory. These names were left off the ticket on account of technical errors in filing certificates of nomination and the case will be watched with interest.

Commercial Club

The club will meet tomorrow (Tuesday) night, Oct. 30, 1906, and every member is urgently requested to be present as there will be important business to consider at that time.

Very Respectfully,
W. H. EBEY, Pres. 188 2t

"The King of Tramps" which comes to the Ada Opera House Tuesday night, is truly an American comedy, set to Yankee Doodle music. Unlike the usual so-called "Musical Comedies" (?) this play contains a real plot, with an interesting story, set in a jolly, jingling romp of rollicking music. Not a jumble of old "coon songs" but a merry swing of melody that charms and delights the ear; real "Yankee Doodle" music sung with a vim and a dash that causes the blood to tingle and the feet to patter. A style of performance that will please all who appreciate common sense comedy.

GOVERNMENT WILL SUE TO DISSOLVE STANDARD OIL

Washington, Oct. 26.—Upon evidence collected by the Bureau of Corporations which has not yet been made public, the department of justice, with the aid of special attorneys, is expected to move within a few weeks for the dissolution of the Standard Oil company on the ground that it is a monopoly in restraint of trade. The suit is expected to be brought in St. Louis, and it is said that not only will the corporation be named as defendant, but that its individual officers will be required to put up a defense.

Attorneys for the Government have devoted much time to the selection of a court for the bringing of a suit. Chicago was considered for a time, but as much of the evidence concerned in the new case has to do with the oil trade west of the Mississippi River, with St. Louis as the distributing point the later city now has the call as the scene of the new prosecution. Cleveland was also considered, but the recent oil prosecution at Findlay Ohio, failed to produce much evidence serviceable in the new case, and upon advice of District Attorney John J. Sullivan of Cleveland, it has practically been eliminated. St. Paul also has been named, but at present it is not deemed likely that the case will go there.

The Stater Company

Staters famous Madison Square theatre company will be seen at the Ada opera house for an engagement of three nights and one matinee starting next Thursday night Nov. 1.

This organization comes highly recommended to the opera house and wherever the company has played this season they have received the best kind of notices from the press and public. "The Mountaineers" a story of 5 acts melodrama will be presented Thursday night. A feature of the performance will be the high class Vaudeville introduced.

The following extract from the Oklahoma City, Daily Oklahoman: "The company is amazingly good, it was the best dramatic effort seen in Oklahoma City for many months."

COTTON GROWERS DENOUNCE "BALDERDASH" OF THE BEARS

New Orleans, La., Oct. 30.—The Mississippi division of the Southern Cotton Growers Association, through Secretary Woods, has issued a warning to the cotton growers against the campaign started last week by a clique of New York bears to lower the price of cotton. Attention is called to the slump of $4 per bale, which, if there is no advance, will cost the Mississippi farmers $5,000,000 and a proportionate amount in other cotton producing states. Secretary Woods advocates the organization of a holding scheme among the farmers to oppose the bear raids and refuse to let their cotton go for less than the bread and meat cost. He also urges their co-operation in the movement to build fireproof warehouses to store their produce and to demand higher prices.

He denounces as bear "balderdash" the report that English spinners now on their way to the United States have formed a syndicate to raise 30,000,000 bales of cotton in Texas alone.

"These men," he says, "who have never seen a stalk of cotton grown, are saying it can be raised for 5c."

"This," he continues, "is simply used as a decoy to deceive the uninformed and unwary. It is true that Texas could raise 30,000,000 bales of cotton, but it would take ten times her present population and any intelligent reader can figure out, under laws of increase in population and our existing immigration laws, how long before Texas would be able to produce such a yield."

What the Party Stands For.

Below is published in full the resolutions adopted by the democratic delegate district convention at Ada October 5th:

We the democrats of the 87th constitutional delegate district in the Indian Territory in convention assembled for the purpose of nominating a delegate for the constitutional convention for the new state of Oklahoma, wish:

1. To express our firm and lasting faith in the honesty, intelligence and wisdom of the people and our firm belief that they should have a right to decide all matters and elect all officers by a direct vote of the people to the end that they may get relief from the burdens and abuses which have been heaped upon them in the past when they were denied the right of free government to free men. We advocate, therefore, the initiative and referendum and the right to recall, so that the people may settle all questions of a public or a local nature as they may deem best and so that an official when elected to represent the people may be recalled from office at any time by a majority of the people, should he fail to represent the will of the people or prove untrue to the trust imposed in him.

2. We demand an ironclad anti-trust provision, also a corporation commission elected by the people, such commission to be empowered to exercise all necessary supervision of corporations including railroads, to see that the corporation charters are obeyed to the letter and rebates and discriminations do not occur without just punishment; to compel by the aid of courts strict obedience to the laws enacted for the protection of patrons, employees and honest competition.

3. Our constitution should forbid any railroads or other corporations to do more than require an easement of any lands and then only on such lands as are necessary to furnish right-of-way, station grounds or for shops or for some other necessary department of the corporation, and should a corporation abandon its legitimate business or have its charter forfeited then the use and occupancy of such land shall revert to the original grantor, his heirs or assigns.

4. We favor a provision of the constitution providing for factory and mine inspectors, said inspectors to be men who know from actual experience or training how to ascertain and correct abuses so prevalent in factory and mine.

5. We are opposed to the youth of our land being prematurely employed in the mines and factories. There should be a constitutional act protecting the boys and girls of the state in that respect.

6. We believe that labor should be respected in its demand that eight hours shall constitute a day's work in all underground works and other works carried on by the state, county or municipal government.

7. We favor establishing and maintaining for as long a period each year a free school system; the state should manufacture and furnish free, or at cost, uniform school books, by this means curbing the school book trust.

8. We favor a bonded school fund commission elected by the people, so that the state school fund is not in any way misappropriated. We favor the retention of all the public lands now owned by the state, unless directed sold by a vote of the people.

9. We are opposed to the coal lands of the state falling into the hands of private monopolies and favor a system by which the coal lands may be acquired by the state for the benefit of the public school fund, and the general public who are consumers of coal, to the end that the Indians may receive just and fair compensation for their property and the public protected from extortion and injustice. Should the state own the coal lands we advocate dealing separately with the surface, that more homes may be given the bona fide settlers of the state.

10. We demand that no public officer or candidate for any office within the state or from any portion of it shall use passes, or free transportation upon any railroad or other public service corporation and that it shall be declared a felony to accept same.

11. We believe the constitutional convention should memorialize congress to remove all the restrictions from the lands of the tribal citizens, except the homestead of fullbloods. That a just and reasonable limitation be placed upon the amount of said land to be purchased by a person, to the end that this land may become the home of the actual farmer and settler. We are opposed to this land falling into the hands of the corporation speculator and grafter.

12. We favor having incorporated into our state structure an alien land law.

13. We favor a state wide road system, to be maintained by a general road tax and we favor the working of the convicts on the public roads and the transfer of all able-bodied convicts from northern prisons to be employed on public roads where most needed.

14. We advocate a provision levying a one per centum tax on earnings of all corporations with intangible assets. We also advocate taxing all intangible assets of corporations.

15. We favor uniform and maximum tax rate.

16. We declare unalterable opposition to all trusts, combinations and monopolies which seek to control the necessities of life and thereby extort from the people an unjust and unfair price and we denounce all persons or parties, who favor such, as being enemies to the people and to the best interests of the country, and brand any attempt which would encourage any monopoly as treachery to the people and country and as taking the taxing power from the government and placing it in the power of private parties or corporations to tax the people at their own will or selfish interests may dictate, and demand that the people be properly safeguarded in the constitution.

17. We favor proper and effective laws which will prevent bribery and corruption and convict those who shall either give or take bribes.

18. We favor the election of all officers by direct vote of the people and favor an amendment to the constitution of the United States providing for the election of United States senators by direct vote of the people, and until the constitution is so amended we demand the nomination of the United States senators by direct vote of the people and that the state legislatures be required to elect senators so nominated.

19. We demand that it be made an offense punishable by imprisonment for a corporation to contribute to a campaign fund, also a provision demanding publicity of campaign contributions.

20. We favor a clause in the constitution to give the people the

OVERDRAFTS

It is becoming well known by business men that overdrafts, whether large or small, are not approved by the comptroller of the currency. The large central banks allow overdrafts only in a very small way, and this, it matters not how small, is not approved by the powers that be. This unbusinesslike habit of overdrafts grew out of advancing on moving products, such as cotton, grain and fat stock on the move. The overdraft system is wrong and the man whose account is always overdrawn is the man who spends more money than he makes and will finally have no bank account.

WIFE'S SUCCESS KILLED LOVE

Dissensions, Misery and Divorce the Result of Husband's Wounded Egotism.

Average Man Must Be the Bread-Winner and the King or the Domestic Structure Is in Danger of Collapse—The Case of Burr Nichols and His Gifted Wife.

Shattered Romance of Two Artists Seems to Prove That a Woman Must
Beware of Becoming More Famous Than Her Husband, in His Chosen
Line of Work.

Jealousy, dissensions, misery and divorce. Are these the inevitable consequences when a wife is engaged in the same life occupation as her husband, when their lives move on parallel lines and with parallel ambitions, and when it is possible that the work of the wife exceeds in merit that of the husband?

So it would seem from the unhappy marital history of Mrs. Rhoda Holmes Nichols, a history in which art and jealousy crept in at the door while love flew out through the window.

Her divorce has just been recorded in the New York supreme court.

It is not an altogether unusual thing nowadays for a wife to outdo her husband at his chosen occupation. In almost every instance where this occurs misery is the consequence.

Men do not like to have wives smarter than themselves, or more artistic, or wiser in a business way, or who win praise for doing things for which praise is usually accorded a man, declares a writer in the New York World.

Let a woman bake a fine pie, or do a fine bit of embroidery, or hem or stitch, or sew or keep a neat house, and the husband will listen to the world's praise of her with complacent satisfaction.

But let her keep to the kitchen, if you please, or play the piano in the parlor, or mother the children in the nursery, or do anything but step over the line of demarcation where he is boss.

He is the bread-winner and the king. Those in his kingdom must be weaker than himself and dependent upon him, or the whole domestic structure falls and there is no more happiness in the world.

ARTISTIC JEALOUSY CAUSES SEPARATION.

So it was with Mrs. Rhoda Holmes Nichols, who now has her own studio, her own children, and her own lonely but even after she began to sell her pictures she continued to be an enthusiastic student.

She went to France and Italy, where she studied art in the best schools. She was successful there, and eventually went to South Africa and Asia for landscapes.

Still heartfree and winning her own way in the world, she settled down in Florence, where the air is the very breath of art, and where the sky is as tender as the eyes of love.

Here in the course of her work she met a young painter named Burr Nichols. He, too, was a fine artist, and their mutual tastes drew them much together.

It is strange that the very traits and characteristics and the mutual likes which give birth to love should in the end be the means of its death and funeral. The young artists did not dream of the truth of these things.

How could the art from which love sprang be its murderer? Neither did they rock of the future when they became engaged. Was there not the magic of love in their brushes? Were they not bohemians enough to face the future with light hearts? Could they not paint the tearful eyes away from the face of sorrow, and put the cap and bells on the picture of poverty? On these fundamental beliefs they were married.

Nichols, like his wife, was a fine painter. They lived an ideal life in their studio. They painted together, talked together, planned together, living and dreaming for each other.

Ah, what a little fraud love is after all! He had fired the last arrow in his quiver when he shot them through the hearts, and then he left them, deeming his duty done.

The Nichols artist family was increased by two lovely children as time passed, and their happiness increased accordingly.

While they were prosperous and contented in Florence they at last decided that they could better themselves in this country.

They came accordingly and settled down in the studio quarter in New York. They continued their successful career, disposing of their pictures as fast as they could paint them. They were happier than most married people. They made friendly criticisms of each other's work, adopted each other's suggestions, were forbearing and forgiving, as men and wives should be.

In 1897 Mr. Nichols began a picture which, as it developed and the inspiration took wings within him, he resolved to send to the Paris Salon. As the idea grew his work became more painstaking. Should he succeed, the added incentive as well as the prestige it would give him would be of priceless value in his future work. The wife watched his work with the greatest solicitude and pride. She encouraged him and gave him loving and unstinted praise. She put her own brush by to watch his. To her his work afforded a period of self-absorption in which all her being was wrapped up in his.

Eventually the great painting was finished. With the utmost care they packed it and sent it off to the Paris Salon.

Then followed a period of deep anxiety in which two souls joined. Impatiently they awaited the issue. In a month the answer came. The picture had been accepted and would be displayed "on the line."

Joy reigned in the Nichols household. They would now paint with a deep and strong foundation of success under them. The Paris Salon had spoken and the Paris Salon was mighty. The picture had secured "honorable mention."

The husband resolved to paint another picture for the following year's Salon. The wife would try it, too, she said. Was not her husband's success her own? If she should succeed, would not her success be gracious in the eyes of her husband and master?

Mr. Nichols smilingly gave his assent to the plan and they set to work bravely. She could have gone to France or Italy, where her young artist days were passed, but she preferred to remain in this country and educate her children. She took a studio at East Gloucester, Mass.

In her artistic career she won eleven medals. She had shown pictures at the exhibition of the Roman Water Color society in 1883; she was hung on the line at Turin, Milan, the Royal academy at Paris in 1900, at the Chicago and Pan-American expositions, at Atlanta, Nashville, Cleveland and the Boston Triennial in 1896.

She is a member of many art clubs and societies and was for nine years vice president of the Water Color club of New York, is a member of the National Arts club, the American Water Color society, the New York Water Color club, the Barnard club, Pen and Brush, the Woman's Art club, the American Society of Miniature Painters and an associate member of the Woman's Art Club of Canada.

MUTUAL HAPPINESS IN CHILDREN'S LOVE

For eight years Rhoda Holmes Nichols has never ceased to struggle. She has earned a fair competence and has led a retired life, but gradually she is learning to be happy again—happy in the love of her children, which knows no distrust or jealousy.

The other day the curtain fell on the last act in this strange marital drama.

Mrs. Rhoda Holmes Nichols received a decree of absolute divorce, carrying with it the legal custody of the children, and authority to resume her maiden name.

Incompatibility was the cause given, but the divorce papers are sealed.

Mrs. Rhoda Holmes is still young and much of life is yet before her. But it is doubtful if she will ever again regard love as anything but a mirage of the youthful brain, an unsubstantial dream, the flesh tints laid upon the bones of an awful skeleton.

But the experience of Mrs. Holmes is not singular. So long as man's nature remains unchanged, just so long will he demand the leadership of the family, both mentally and physically. The spiritual crown he accords to woman without question.

Moral: Do not beat your husband at anything he may undertake.

Free Beds for Cats.

In an animal hospital in Philadelphia there is a free bed for cats, endowed by a servant, Ruth Darling, who died in that city some years ago. She had always liked animals, and left her savings to provide free treatment of ailing pets in the Maher animal hospital, where it takes the form of a commodious iron cage with the inscription "The Ruth Darling Bed" on it in gold letters. This bed has always a long list of cats waiting to be treated. During one year as many as 56 were cared for.

fatal blow, and under that blow love withered. There was no more peace, no more happiness in the household. Seeing this, the children were silent and miserable.

But the last straw came when Mrs. Nichols' picture, her famous "Scarlet Letter," received encomiums on both sides of the Atlantic. The husband had never done anything like it.

After a year of trouble the couple separated, the husband going away and the wife remaining to work out her own career.

Thereafter her existence was peaceful, if lonely. There was but one easel now, and one painter. There was but one ambition, and that was the support and education of her children. Art for art's sake was no more. Love for love's sake was a farce.

The woman continued to work with light hearts. Mrs. Nichols could only paint between the intervals of caring for her children, but she went at the work with a light heart, hoping against hope for success.

The two painters wrought and labored side by side. They saw their separate efforts grow from mute outlines, and take form and shape according to their ideas.

Up to this time not a cloud had marred their domestic sky. They were happy, with the careless happiness of children. Their art was a joy—a play to them.

And so they played together until the paintings were finished. In order to insure separate consideration they were packed and shipped in separate boxes to the Paris Salon, where sit the world's arbiters in art.

In due time Mrs. Rhoda Holmes and Mr. Burr Nichols received their respective verdicts.

For Mrs. Rhoda Holmes it was: "Painting accepted and given honorable mention."

For Mr. Burr Nichols it was: "Painting judged unworthy; hereby returned."

Here fell the shadow, if we are to believe those who sympathize with Mrs. Nichols. Here entered the note of discord. Here was the parting of the ways whereby two souls became estranged, through the life of earth and the eternity of heaven.

With the wife's joy was a feeling of sincere sorrow for her husband. He had worked so hard. He had hoped for so much. Why could not both of them have won?

Although the shadow was in his heart, the husband spoke bravely of the future. "Let us try it again, he said; 'we may both win next time.'"

And so they went to work for a second trial. Side by side they painted as before. But now there stood a ghost between them—the impalpable shadow of jealousy and discontent. The wife, perceiving this, grieved much over it. The husband, imagining things that were not, grew gloomy and taciturn.

In due time the two pictures were packed in separate crates and shipped to Paris and in due time the answers came back.

His answer was a box with his picture, returned with a due acknowledgment; hers an acceptance with honorable mention.

Then, say Mrs. Nichols' friends, the man's nature seemed to change entirely. He became grumpy and cross. Nothing seemed to please him. The iron had entered his soul. The wife had outdone the husband in his chosen sphere of life. Oh, strange phase of a man's nature which makes such a thing unforgivable!

Some old philosopher has called love "the egotism of two." The egotism of Burr Nichols had received a

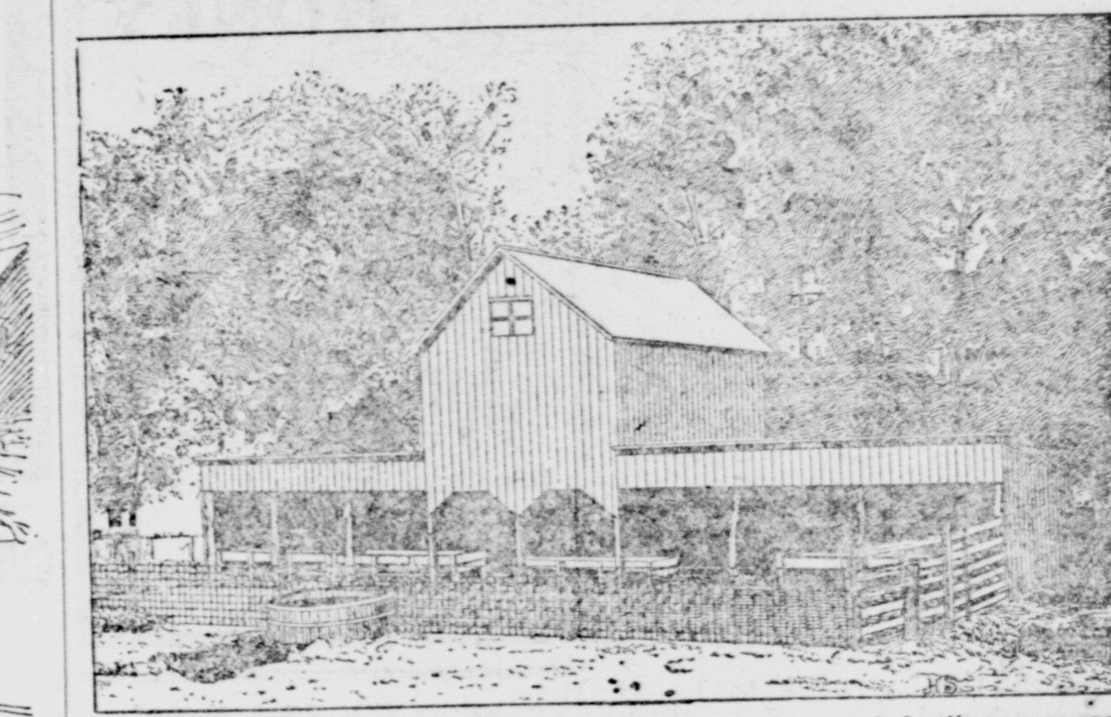

MUDDY VERSUS DRY FEED LOTS FOR CATTLE

The Former Is Unprofitable and Disagreeable and Quite Unnecessary.

Muddy feed lots are an unprofitable as well as disagreeable feature in cattle feeding, especially when no provision is made for shelter. In a summary of replies to a circular of inquiry regarding the methods followed by practical feeders, compiled by H. W. Mumford and L. L. Hall, of the Illinois experiment station, the question of muddy feed lots was considered. Notwithstanding the fact that the disadvantages of mud and dirt were recognized, only 36 of the 500 and more cattle feeders who furnished information on this point reported definite provisions against such conditions. Of these, ten have the surface of feed lots paved or otherwise artigiven satisfaction. The pavement is 24 by 80 feet and is made of brick laid flat on six inches of gravel packed until solid. The curbing consists of curbstones 18 inches wide and three inches thick, set edgewise. Feed bunks were placed in the shed, as shown in figure 1. Adjoining this paved lot is a yard containing about one-half acre in which the hayrack is located. The shelter consists of a building 20 by 26 feet, with two wings each 20 by 30 feet. The upper floor of the middle portion is used for storing dry corn fodder, which can be conveniently cut and fed through an open shaft to the feeding bunks below.

platforms for use in muddy lots, which is inexpensive and has proved satisfactory. The platforms in the sample described were 16 feet by six feet and were made of two-inch bridge plank cut six feet long. The feed bunks were made in the usual way, two feet six inches high, three feet wide and 16 feet long.

There are three advantages in the floors. The feeder always has a dry place to walk when putting in feed; the cattle are out of the mud and not officially covered; 15 use rock, gravel, cinders, bricks, planks, corncocks or sawdust alone and in combination in various parts of the lot; for instance, about the feed troughs, water tanks, sheds, or gates. Ten of the correspondents state that they have made the lots dry enough for feeding purposes by a tile drain, while two report that the yards have been graded and the mud and manure removed by means of dirt scrapers. Several of those who use coal cinders for filling
